Contents

Acknowledgments

Preface

Note on Transliteration

Introduction

The Oxus and Mā Warāʾ al-Nahr in History

Notes on the Sources

The Secondary Literature

Islamic Societies in History: State of Knowledge

1. Power, Authority and Social Order

The Concept of Social Order: Guiding Premises and Cornerstones

Institutions

Worldview(s)

Social Order and Inertia

Questions of Power and Authority

The Omnipresence of Power in Human Relations

Power in Networks

Institutionalization Processes

Symbolic Power

Authority and Social Order

Patronage, Gift Exchange and Mediation

Patron-Client Relations

Generosity, Reciprocity and Gift Giving

Mediation and Brokerage

Conclusion

2. Historical Overview: Social Order in Mā Warāʾ al-Nahr

The Geographical Setting of Mā Warāʾ al-Nahr

The Uzbeks and their Turko-Mongol Legacy

Uzbek Origins and Waves of Migration

Social Order in the Turko-Mongol World

Social Order in Uzbek-dominated Transoxania

Shifts of Power and Social Change

---

Acknowledgments

Preface

Note on Transliteration

Introduction

The Oxus and Mā Warāʾ al-Nahr in History

Notes on the Sources

The Secondary Literature

Islamic Societies in History: State of Knowledge

1. Power, Authority and Social Order

The Concept of Social Order: Guiding Premises and Cornerstones

Institutions

Worldview(s)

Social Order and Inertia

Questions of Power and Authority

The Omnipresence of Power in Human Relations

Power in Networks

Institutionalization Processes

Symbolic Power

Authority and Social Order

Patronage, Gift Exchange and Mediation

Patron-Client Relations

Generosity, Reciprocity and Gift Giving

Mediation and Brokerage

Conclusion

2. Historical Overview: Social Order in Mā Warāʾ al-Nahr

The Geographical Setting of Mā Warāʾ al-Nahr

The Uzbeks and their Turko-Mongol Legacy

Uzbek Origins and Waves of Migration

Social Order in the Turko-Mongol World

Social Order in Uzbek-dominated Transoxania

Shifts of Power and Social Change
Mā Warāʾ al-Nahr in the Early Eighteenth Century ........................................... 120
The Rise of Amirid Principalities ................................................................. 121
Miyānḵāl: The Intermediate Land ............................................................... 123
The Khitāʾi-Qipchāq .................................................................................... 128
The Yetī Īrūgh .................................................................................................. 131
The Qaṭaghān ............................................................................................ 134
Nūr and the Northern Mountains of Miyānḵāl ........................................ 135
The Burqūt and the Turkomān Yūzī ....................................................... 137
Ḥiṣār-i Shādḵān ...................................................................................... 139
Īrūt Tippe and Other Towns in the Sir Daryā Region ......................... 142
The Yūz and Ming Tribes ........................................................................ 144
Qarshī (Nasaf/Nakhshab) ...................................................................... 149
The Manghit ............................................................................................. 153
Khuzār ....................................................................................................... 161
The Sarāy ................................................................................................... 163
Shahr-i Sabz: The “Green City” ............................................................... 164
The Īng wa Sūl Alliance and the Kīnakās .............................................. 166
Shīrābād, Bāysūn and the Iron Gate .................................................... 169
The Qungrāt ............................................................................................. 171
Tirmidh ....................................................................................................... 175
The Naymān ............................................................................................. 176
Samarqand: The “Paradisiacal City” ....................................................... 177
Chahār Jūy .................................................................................................. 179
The Qalmāq (Junghār/Uirāt) .................................................................... 182
Īrūt and Kūhistān ..................................................................................... 188
The City of Bukhara ................................................................................ 189
Deserts and Mountains ........................................................................... 198
The Inhabitants of the Peripheries .......................................................... 202
Conclusion ................................................................................................ 210

3. The Figurations of Power in Eighteenth-Century Transoxania..... 215
   The Circumstances under the Last Tuqay-Timurids ......................... 216
   The Major Power Shifts under Abū’l-Faiz Khān ............................... 218
   Muḥammad Raḥīm Bī Yūz of Ḥiṣār ....................................................... 220
   Niʿmatullah Bī Naymān of Tirmidh ...................................................... 232
   Ibrāhīm Bī Kīnakās of Shahr-i Sabz ................................................... 238
   Farḥād Bī Ītārčī of Samarqand ........................................................ 252
   Khudāyār Bī and the Rise of the Manghit ........................................... 259
   The Yetī Īrūgh, the Qaṭaghān and the Struggle for Karmīnā .......... 265
4. The Order of Things in Eighteenth-Century Chronicles .......... 451
   Preconditions for the Forging of Personal Ties .............................. 452
   The Image of the Protectors from the Perspective of the Protégés..... 457
   Rituals of Power: The Bay’a and Kūrnish........................................ 461
   Notions of Loyalty and Obedience.................................................. 480
      Ikhlāṣ, Hawā-khwāhī and Other Terms for Loyalty...................... 482
      Ḩātaʿ, Inqiyād and Ḩilā: Obedience and Subordination................... 484
      Farmān-bardarī and Khidhatgārī: Subjection and Service............... 488
   Provision of Resources by Subordinated Actors............................. 491
      Jān-Sipārī: Sacrifice and Devotion............................................. 500
   Acts of Favor, Grace and Compassion............................................ 505
      Marḥamat, Shafaqat and Ināyat: Terms for Favor, Benevolence and Affection.................................................................................. 505
   Particular Acts of Favor: Patterns and Situations.......................... 509
5. Social Order(s) in Nineteenth-Century Transoxania

The Manghit Period: Rulers and Milestones
Muḥammad Dānyāl Bī b. Khudāyār Bī
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Content</th>
<th>ix</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Shāh Murād Bī</td>
<td>689</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amīr Ḥaidar</td>
<td>694</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Succession Struggle 1826–1827</td>
<td>697</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amīr Naṣrullah Khān</td>
<td>700</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Last Three Manghit Amīrs</td>
<td>702</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Social Order at the Bukharan Court</td>
<td>704</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shāh Murād’s Image in Nineteenth-Century Historiography</td>
<td>705</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rituals of Power at Amīr Ḥaidar’s Court</td>
<td>718</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Naṣrullah Khān: The Lord of the Auspicious Conjunction</td>
<td>745</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>777</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russia’s Protectorate Reconsidered</td>
<td>780</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Russian Expansion: A Chronological Overview</td>
<td>781</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russian Protagonists and Local Power Brokers</td>
<td>784</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Effects of the Russian Presence</td>
<td>790</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>804</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foreign Images of Transoxania’s Social Order</td>
<td>805</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foreign Experiences of Bukharan Hospitality</td>
<td>808</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trapped in the Regional Gift Cycle</td>
<td>812</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Diverging Worldviews, Divergent Tastes</td>
<td>814</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Bukharan Horse Trade</td>
<td>818</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>822</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Social Order(s) in the Bukharan Countryside</td>
<td>824</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sharecropping, Land Tenure and Patronage in Bukhara</td>
<td>825</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Institutionalized Indebtedness</td>
<td>838</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Āqsaqāls According to Foreign and Secondary Sources</td>
<td>847</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Āqsaqāls in Bukharan Sources</td>
<td>854</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>On the Selection and Performance of Āqsaqāls</td>
<td>863</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>875</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Making Sense of the Petition System</td>
<td>877</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>903</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conclusion</td>
<td>907</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Transoxania before and after 1868</td>
<td>908</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Formation of the Nascent Bukharan State</td>
<td>910</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Concluding Remarks................................................................................  917

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Concluding Remarks</th>
<th>917</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Why Apply the Social Order Concept?</td>
<td>918</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Added Scientific Value of the Social Order Concept</td>
<td>928</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The End of Chronicle Writing</td>
<td>937</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>